

LALELA

THE JOURNEY

Lalela means "Come Listen" in Zulu, and that invitation is at the heart of this project from winemaking power couple Wade Sander and Natasha Williams. Aiming to tell the untold stories of historically 'unknown' South Africans and their influence across almost 400 years of winemaking history. Through each bottle, Lalela shares reflections of the Cape Winelands inspired by the traditions and heritage that shaped them.

Wade and Natasha have used their combined 20+ years of experience to source exceptional fruit from across the Western Cape. A Black-owned label currently in limited production, each wine in the range is a deliberate act of storytelling, from the Heritage White and Heritage Red to the single-varietal Cinsaut creating wines of excellence.
